Want something different than the usual hotel meeting space facilities for your next conference? Why not take the opportunity to do something different and unique about your next business trip? London offers a great variety of opportunities to make your meeting special. Below are some suggestions that will hopefully give you some new and inspiring ideas:

Have you ever been to a meeting held on a Royal Navy ship from World War II? If not, now is your chance! With its nine decks of history, the HMS Belfast tells you the story of the 950 people who lived and worked aboard during World War II, and later also the Korean War. Since 1978, it has been a museum. The ship can organize conferences and events for between 12-250 people. For example, accommodate your meeting in The Ship's Company Dining Hall where you are surrounded by all the original characteristic features, including the exposed steel of the ship's interior walls and pipes in the ceiling. Or why not host an outdoor event at The Quarterdeck at dusk with stunning views of the beautiful Tower Bridge, the Tower of London and the River Thames. HMS Belfast has one of the prettiest views of London and is an ideal location for your event.

Why not arrange your conference on a famous football stadium? Let your meeting be inspired by the view of Emirates Stadium, Arsenal's home arena – a great opportunity to combine business with pleasure. Take the opportunity to end the conference with a Stadium Tour and a visit to the museum to learn more of the Gunners' football history.

If you want a unique experience, book your conference at Lord's Cricket Ground. Why not combine your meeting with a guided tour around the cricket stadium and finish with Afternoon Tea in the iconic Lord's Long Room or a dinner at the pub The Tavern. Those who wish can also book a time with a coach to try out this sport that has been played in England since the 1300s - definitely a memory for a lifetime!
